

CONSONANTIA

A school of spiritual practice

Consonantia: a word used by Thomas Merton literally: "sounding together" to refer to the essential inner harmony of the universe

EVENTS

Friday, May 9 | 7 - 9 pm

The Holy in the Ordinary: Celtic Christian Spirituality

Lynne McNaughton is an Anglican parish priest at St. Clement's, North Vancouver. She has a doctorate of ministry in Spiritual Leadership from Columbia School of Theology, and taught Christian Spirituality for 13 years at VST. Since 1997 she has led pilgrimages to the Celtic lands-Ireland, Scotland, Wales and Brittany- with her company, Peregrinatio (www.spiritual-pilgrimage.com). She has also taught Celtic Spirituality with Cree, Oji-Cree, and Blackfoot Elders across Canada who are working to reclaim their own indigenous culture.

Saturday, May 10 | 10 am - 4 pm

- 9:30 am Hospitality
- 10 am Gathering, with body prayer
- 10:15 am Two concurrent workshops* – take one in the morning, the other in the afternoon
 - Contemplative Photography
(Joanne Duma, Ed.D)
 - Centering Prayer and other Musings
(Kathleen Symons)
- 12 noon Lunch
- 12:45 pm Gathering, with body prayer
- 1:15 pm Workshops again
- 3 - 4 pm Ecumenical Contemplative Eucharist with lectio divina

* Full descriptions of the workshops may be found at merton.ca

Location

St Andrew's United Church | 1044 St. George's Avenue in North Vancouver

Registration and Information

Please register for the Saturday events through the TMSC in order to facilitate hospitality and workshop planning.
Contact Susan Cowan, Community Relations Director, TMSC.

Participation by donation – all welcome!

Co-sponsored by the Thomas Merton Society of Canada and St. Andrew's United Church, North Vancouver

THOMAS MERTON SOCIETY OF CANADA
1044 St. George's Avenue in North Vancouver, BC V7L 3H6
604-988-8835 • tmsc@telus.net • www.merton.ca